

Sticky

Lyrics by Ann Kathrin Lüthi

I found out something about you today
You will deny it 'cause I know more
You are like crystal to me now
I've got my foot in your door

A profound fear is flickering
During a split second
There's no time for crouching and it's too late to back-off
I get seduced by this glittering

Escort me to a sounder sleep
Wash away all the sticky intrigues
The way that leads down there is steep
Wash away all the sticky intrigues in me
Escort me to a sounder sleep
Wash away all the sticky intrigues in me

There is no such thing as pure evil
No devil without a precedent fall
Have you cried hallelujah at us all?
Would you die a little for your kingdom?

I have a bucket full of pain to drag
But no harbour to turn to
No harbour to turn into the pot of soothing
Where I can hoist my flag

There's no trace of fun in your smile
You think you can run another mile
I know what you've done I know your file
To overcome is what makes you divine
