

Sting of Love

By Annakin

Throw down lightning from the open sky
Shine my light and cry the night away
I know it's none of my damn business anyway
To make you think of me in a different way

In the evening we tell each other jokes
We drink and we smoke and we laugh at anecdotes
And right when you think that nothing stops you anymore
The sting of love will hit you at the core

Fight gravity come pull us apart
You're tied for life to your blood in my heart
Watch sanity comes falling apart
You're tied for life to your blood in my heart

You're medalled with stories that I have heard you tell
But I'm not buying what you're trying to sell
Come on now come on home I'll clean the mess away
There is no turn of the tide it's always been that way

Fight gravity come pull us apart
You're tied for life to your blood in my heart
Watch sanity comes falling apart
You're tied for life to your blood in my heart

And we close our eyes and we feel the words
They are growing
And we can't believe what we have heard
Lips are glowing

Fight gravity come pull us apart
You're tied for life to your blood in my heart
Watch sanity comes falling apart
You're tied for life to your blood in my heart