

Sweet Awakening

By Ann Kathrin Lüthi

This sweet awakening
Comes without a sound
It redefines everything
Until peace is around

In a state of an emergency
We took each other under protection
I let you deep inside of me
In this holy moment of affection

You are precious to me
And I will always care
But what are we that we bear and forbear
That we bear and forbear

If it is the truth
That keeps us there
I will not track it down to anywhere
I freed myself
I set the place on fire
I have made it through somehow
