

Night Light

Every so often i see you
Before you are really there
This must have something to do
With your unit of special care

Your radiation is beyond compare
It must be stronger than the sun
You're a blessing and a curse and for better or for worse
You will cover everything and everyone

Stay
Warm me just a little before you burn me
Before you burn me

Sometimes I can't help to feel for you
But only with a very cautious heart
And even if you break it in two
I soon will fix it state of the art

I know that sparkle in your eyes
It always reminds me of a lie
I am wavering I am torn you're the pulse in my pendulum
But you will never be the sky of mine

I am not the same as you are
I have no lion's heart

Stay with me
