

The End of Eternity

Light up the sunset with a spark
Throw in some fire before it gets dark
I only seem to be the same
But I'm still holding up the flame

I need to know will you love me
I need to know will you love me
Until my heart stands still

It's crazy how intensity gets leveled in its extremities by time
And it's crazy how extremities get leveled in their intensity by time

We set this avalanche in motion
We melt what was eternally frozen
We sweep the fields into new land
These rocks will soon turn into sand

Black stones fight the white attack
The ice will forever draw back