

Humans

If I should ever feel the need to stay away
From humans from humans
Would I still receive the same love from you
Would I still be your woman

Living in the woods alongside animals
Is human is human
There's no harm from them but what I would really find
Is a different kind of shelter

Show me how it goes
Before anyone knows before anyone knows
Before anyone knows
Show me how to keep the heart
From burning low from burning low
From burning low

I think possession is a very strange concept
Made by humans by humans
We patched you up we left you disconnected
Mighty tiger take another round

You watch your face reflected in a tear-shaped pond
It must be the wind this weeping sound

I am the trespasser of your sacred ground
It's not the other way around
