

Parachute

There is no better moment in time
To reveal all the secrets of mine
So I am throwing some light on my invisible scar
Like a radar scans the sky for a star

Was it the same moon that gently passed me by
While I overslept your sweet lullaby
And I've memorized the melody in my fractured dreams
And it can't be as bad as it seems

When I've lost myself on an endless loop
And rub some more salt into my wounds
Your love is my safety net your love is my parachute
Parachute

Down at the beach I watch the endless waves
Run on my footprints until they're broken shapes
Formed by the weight of a body
Whose mind isn't even there

Feel my progress is bound to be ignored
But I won't forget what I've been fighting for
New steam will pump out all the old grime
I'll make this machinery become mine

When I've lost myself on an endless loop
And I can't find the right button to reboot
Your love is my safety net your love is my parachute
Parachute

Help me unwind all my thoughts from the far side
Blot up the ink that I've spilt in my mind
Protect myself from the darkness of the night
Pull close the sun until I'm safe in the light