

The Cradle Man 118 bpm

by Annakin

The sea is a man with a cradle in his hand
And he reminds me of you
Here he comes rolling to caress the land
In places we used to go to Let me stay with you for a while

Until the coldest hearts will melt
You sleep in the arms of the sea tonight
Embraced by the love you felt

You are safe now you are safe now
The Cradle Man will guard you in your sleep
His eternal waves come rolling anyhow
And no matter what they will keep drumming the beat

Stay with me

I wish you could stay here
